Contributors

- Arijit Kundu, Employee
- Prabhanjan K. Vakkantham, Manager

Instructions

We all have a valuable contribution to make towards the success and growth of e2open, our customers, and ourselves. Our team member performance management program, e2review, connects us to the bigger picture – ensuring we understand the broader aims of the business and how our team and individual goals align and contribute to these. At the end of each fiscal year, team members and managers participate in a summary annual review designed to reflect on personal performance, contribution, and progression during the year.

1. AWS cloud expertise

Goal Weight 10%

50 % complete

Objective: Self development and learning AWS cloud technologies

Measurable criteria:

- 1) Developer and Architect certification of AWS Cloud technologies
- 2) Develop and improve application capabilities leveraging AWS technologies
- 3) Alerting, monitoring, and reprocessing capabilities related to application

Arijit Kundu , EmployeeHighly Effective: Meets and Often Exceeds

Improved capabilities in AWS technologies through project related work.

Application capabilities will be greatly improved with AWS SDK upgrade work presently being executed and cleaner architectural design and abstraction of AWS service interfaces.

This will involve improved monitoring and retry capabilities of AWS Service API calls, performance improvement, better resource management, consistent design pattern across all Intra cloud applications.

Prabhanjan K. Vakkantham ,
Manager

Effective: Meets and Fulfills
Requirements

2. System Reliability and Monitoring Improvements

Goal Weight 50%

0 % complete

- 1) System reliability and monitoring improvement for all INTTRA applications
- 2) Implement reprocessing capabilities within the product for different use cases
- 3) Improve validations within the product to handle error situations better
- 4) Improve product validations and enable reprocessing accounting for life cycle business rules constraint
- 5) Improve Integration pipelines for seamless operations with different systems

Arijit Kundu , Employee

Effective: Meets and Fulfills
Requirements

User stories and requirements for this goal have not been finalized and decomposed, in light of more important Project deliverables and Business requirements.

However work being done for AWS SDK upgrade will greatly improve system reliability and performance and maintainability of ALL Intra applications.

Following key business functional enhancements were completed successfully :

- 1) Timestamp update for multiple date fields in Email Notification for all Booking requests.
 - 2) Rates application update for Maersk
 - 3) Booking - OOCL - EDI ID configuration for Premium Customers
 - 4) Proper validation and error messages for missing TransactionStatus in Booking Inbound (all formats). High priority Customer request as reason for failed bookings were not comprehensible.
 - 5) Java 17 upgrade for Intra applications / lambdas
 - 6) RORO and Breakbulk changes for all Request and Confirm (XML and Edifact) flows --> Caterpillar
- Besides a lot of PDSupport tickets and backlog completed
- 5)
 - X) OWASP vulnerabilities in multiple Intra applications

3. Third party upgrades (AWS, Elastic etc)

Goal Weight 20%

0 % complete

Own and Drive major third party software upgrades in INTTRA going forward.

Upgrades like AWS, Elastic etc span multiple applications and needs clear designs and implementation path to be defined.

Arijit Kundu , Employee
Highly Effective: Meets and Often Exceeds

Driving the complete AWS SDK upgrade from 1.x to 2.x across all Intra applications (about 95 deployments)
Currently the impact analysis is completed and findings published covering a complete code scan of all Intra applications and detailing the changes in 1.x vs. 2.x AWS Service API's
The interface design is being worked upon and will provide a cleaner and consistent abstraction that will be followed across all Intra applications. The design phase will complete in March and implementation will be from Mar - Aug

Highly Effective: Meets and Often Exceeds

Arijit has done excellent work on the analysis and design of the AWS SDK upgrade. The quality of the documentation and design is top notch. I've seen remarkable improvement in his work over the past few months, and I'm confident he will deliver this upgrade with excellence.

Competencies

Section Weight 50%

Instructions

Competencies represent "how" we work and reflect the measurable behaviors needed to succeed in our role. Assessing competencies helps us provide a fair and objective evaluation of a team member's performance, encourages professional development by highlighting areas for growth, and aligns individual contributions with organizational goals and expectations. In this section, use the drop-down menu to select a rating for each competency. Use the open text box to provide rationale for the rating selected.

Competency Ratings Competency Comments

1. 1. Execution and Results

Exceptional: Sets a standard of excellence in performance. Executes strategies in a manner that inspires confidence among peers and leadership, far exceeds expectations of clients and colleagues, and delivers distinctive and measurable impact. Reliably produces high quality work marked by precision accuracy, flawless execution, completion ahead of deadlines, and within budget. Never misses a chance to over-deliver. Exhibits an unparalleled client centric focus (both externally and internally) and delights clients with distinctive results and service excellence. Demonstrates a strong ability to anticipate challenges and swiftly implements effective solutions while maintaining focus under pressure. Proactively tracks project deliverables, seeks opportunities for improvement, and optimizes processes.

Highly Effective: Consistently executes strategies in a manner that meets or exceeds expectations of clients and colleagues and delivers measurable impact. Reliably produces quality work marked by a high degree of accuracy, superior execution, completion on or ahead of deadlines, and within budget. Exhibits a high client centric focus (both externally and internally) and delights clients with quality results and service excellence. Demonstrates strong problem-solving skills and follows through on commitments. Proactively monitors deliverables, addresses challenges, and adjusts plans as needed to keep projects on track.

Effective: Routinely implements strategies in a manner that meets expectations of clients and colleagues and does a good job when directed to do something. Produces work marked by acceptable accuracy, satisfactory execution, completion on deadlines, and within budget. Exhibits a client centric focus (both externally and internally) and aims to delight clients with service excellence. Demonstrates ability to prioritize tasks appropriately and manage their workload efficiently. Maintains consistent productivity, responds well to direction, and looks for ways to improve their performance over time.

Inconsistent: Implements strategies in a manner that sometimes meets expectations of clients and colleagues, but lacks reliability in accuracy, execution, meeting deadlines, and adhering to budget requirements. Attempts to maintain a client centric focus (both externally and internally) but accountability for results may be inconsistent, requiring additional oversight or support to deliver service excellence and stay on track. Improvement is needed in planning, follow-through, and maintaining focus on key objectives.

Unsatisfactory: Consistently fails to implement strategies in a manner that meets expectations of clients and colleagues, often producing work with frequent errors, missing deadlines, or failing to complete tasks. Inability to maintain a client centric focus (both externally and internally). Demonstrates difficulty in problem-solving and adapting to changes and often requires excessive oversight or intervention to complete their responsibilities. Significant improvement is needed in task management and maintaining focus on delivering quality work.

Highly Effective

2. 2. Innovation and Creativity

Exceptional: Strives to break new ground, thinks outside the box, and makes e2open better in a variety of ways. Excels at challenging conventional approaches, thinking critically, and applying creative problem-solving to overcome obstacles and identify new opportunities. Shares innovative ideas and ways of adding value across the organization and inspires others to embrace change. Leads transformational initiatives with creativity that positions the firm for long-term success. Is passionate about making the supply chains of the world genuinely better.

Highly Effective: Often cultivates business through being innovative and creative. Challenges existing approaches, thinks critically, and proposes creative solutions that add value to the organization. Shares ideas that are practical and well-researched, leading to measurable enhancements in efficiency, quality, or customer experience. Embraces creativity, collaborating on new concepts and remaining open to diverse perspectives. Leverages curiosity to realize continual improvement through discovery and development.

Effective: Contributes to business growth by leveraging existing solutions. Occasionally acts creatively when the opportunity or need arises. Demonstrates a willingness to experiment with different work methods and adapts to evolving circumstances. Ideas are incremental rather than groundbreaking but add value and contribute to organizational improvements. Has an interest in continual improvement and fulfills objectives of the role through discovery and development as needed.

Inconsistent: Attempts to contribute innovative ideas but may struggle to think beyond conventional approaches. May hesitate to experiment with new work methods, or requires prompting to engage in creative problem-solving. May need development in ability to identify opportunities for improvement. Ideas proposed may lack feasibility, depth, or follow through, limiting impact on process or services. Sees value in continual improvement but may not always meet objectives of the role and could focus more on discovery and development.

Unsatisfactory: Fails to contribute innovative ideas or improvements. Resists change, relies solely on traditional methods, and demonstrates little to no effort in exploring creative solutions to problems. Struggles to adapt to new challenges, resulting in missed opportunities for improvement, inefficiencies, and stagnation. Significant improvement needed in embracing change, actively seeking innovative approaches, and contributing to a culture of continuous learning and development.

Effective

3. 3. Communication and Collaboration

Exceptional: Sets a standard of excellence in communication, both written and verbal. Excels at actively listening and conveying information in a clear, concise, and persuasive manner. Articulates service or solution value to clients and colleagues impeccably. Consistently adapts communication style to different audiences and ensures mutual understanding in all interactions. Collaborates cross-functionally and utilizes their network to engage and interact to resolve issues swiftly and effectively. Engages others by exhibiting a distinctive positive attitude and by always being approachable. Excels by demonstrating empathy and always treats others with respect. Is an exceptional collaborator and goes out of their way to make people all over e2open better.

Highly Effective: Demonstrates advanced communication skills, both written and verbal. Listens actively and conveys information in a clear, concise, and persuasive manner. Articulates service or solution value to clients and colleagues impactfully. Consistently adapts communication style to different situations. Collaborates within own department and sometimes cross-functionally to resolve issues swiftly and effectively. Engages others by exhibiting a positive attitude and by being approachable. Consistently demonstrates empathy and treats others with respect. Is a great team player and goes out of their way to make their department better.

Effective: Regularly communicates effectively, both written and verbal. Generally listens actively and conveys information in a clear, concise, and persuasive manner. Sufficiently articulates service or solution value to clients and colleagues. Tailors messages appropriately to different audiences. Collaborates within own department to resolve issues in a timely and effective manner. Engages others by exhibiting a positive attitude and is generally approachable. Regularly demonstrates empathy and treats others with respect. Is good at working on teams.

Inconsistent: Attempts to communicate effectively, both written and verbal, but often lacks clarity, precision, and/or persuasion. Somewhat able to articulate service or solution value to clients and colleagues. Generally considers how messages come across to different audiences, but approach has room for improvement. Collaborates as needed but may not be proactive in reaching out. Engages others, but not always with a positive attitude, affecting team dynamics or performance. Displays empathy to varying degrees and may not always be a good team player.

Unsatisfactory: Communication, both written and verbal, is poor, unclear, or ineffective, leading to misunderstanding. Fails to articulate service or solution value to clients and colleagues. Is not effective tailoring messages appropriately for different audiences. Is not effective collaborating within own department. Fails to engage others with a positive attitude and is not approachable. Fails to display empathy and treat others respectfully. Is not a team player.

Effective

4. 4. Professional Development

Everyone rates themselves on Self-Development; Managers rate themselves on Self-Development & Talent Development.*

Exceptional:

- Self-Development: Aspires to grow and lead at e2open. Goes above and beyond to keep abreast of industry trends. Proactively seeks opportunities to expand their knowledge and abilities. Continuously solicits performance feedback. Always analyzes mistakes to determine areas of improvement and changes behaviors accordingly. Wants to be the very best in whatever they aspire to do and accomplish meaningful achievements.

- Talent Development: Builds immense followership, where people go out of their way to collaborate with the individual. Demonstrates an exceptional ability to foster enthusiasm and commitment. Is a fair and considerate leader, putting their team first. Builds trust by creating a culture of coaching and knows the importance of 1:1 meetings with their direct reports. Maintains a consistent meeting cadence to support and develop and provides immediate feedback on performance (both positive and constructive). Proactively addresses poor performers. Creates succession plans and/or builds a talent pipeline to support organizational growth. Drives impactful team performance to achieve organizational goals.

Highly Effective:

- Self-Development: Aspires to grow at e2open. Keeps abreast of industry trends. Seeks opportunities to expand their knowledge and abilities. Graciously accepts performance feedback and views it as a learning opportunity. Consistently analyzes mistakes to determine areas of improvement and changes behaviors accordingly. Wants to be good at what they do.

- Talent Development: Consistently motivates and inspires their team to perform well. Cares about others and puts their team first. Builds trust by consistently meeting 1:1 with their direct reports and delivers timely feedback on performance (positive or constructive). Proactively addresses poor performers. Develops their teams through coaching practices and works with them to set SMART goals. Creates succession plans and/or builds a talent pipeline to support organizational growth. Drives team performance to achieve organizational goals.

Effective:

- Self-Development: Regularly seeks to expand their knowledge and abilities. Accepts performance feedback and views it as a learning opportunity. Regularly analyzes mistakes to determine areas of improvement and changes behaviors accordingly. Strives to be good at their current position.

- Talent Development: Generally successful in fostering team morale and building trust. Cares for their team. Regularly holds 1:1 meetings with their direct reports. Delivers feedback on performance (positive or constructive) and coaches direct reports. Addresses poor performers. Utilizes SMART goals with their team. May consider succession planning to build a talent pipeline. Guides team performance to achieve organizational goals.

Inconsistent:

- Self-Development: Only expands their knowledge and abilities when advised by management. Accepts performance feedback and usually views it as a learning opportunity. May change behaviors when their mistakes have been analyzed and areas of improvement have been identified. Fine with doing an acceptable job at current level.

• Talent Development: Maintains functional team morale. Trust-building efforts may be less successful due to inconsistent coaching. Cares for their team but needs to take additional action to improve support provided to them. Meets 1:1 with direct reports but meetings may not happen regularly. Needs improvement providing timely feedback. Reactively addresses poor performers. Understands the need for a talent pipeline but may not cultivate it proactively. Attempts to guide team performance to achieve organizational goals but may have room for improvement.

Unsatisfactory:

• Self-Development: Fails to expand their knowledge and abilities. Does not accept performance feedback and may even view it negatively instead of realizing it comes from a good place to help them grow. Unwilling to change behaviors when their mistakes have been analyzed, and areas of improvement have been identified. May not have care for how they are performing at current level.

Talent Development: Fails to inspire or motivate the team or build trust, resulting in low morale and poor team performance. Does not demonstrate care and support of their teams. Does not coach or meet with their direct reports in 1:1 to develop them or support SMART goals. Does not provide regular or timely feedback (positive or constructive). Problem performers have gone unaddressed if applicable. Does not understand the talent in their organization or focus on a talent pipeline. Has not been successful aligning team performance to organizational goals.

Various key business functional enhancements were successfully executed besides addressing technical debts (security vulnerabilities, Java 17 upgrade etc.) .

I am thankful for the opportunity to completely own and drive the AWS SDK upgrade effort across all Intra applications. This is an extremely high impact effort as SDK 1.x is end of life and the footprint is extremely high (over 95 deployments across multiple Intra application / products).

The impact analysis published provides details of the entire footprint, usage semantics and what needs to change.

The design phase being performed will abstract the AWS service interfaces and make their usage consistent across all applications and provide better maintainability.

The implementation once completed (Mar - Aug) will provide improved system reliability and performance in multiple areas with the use of the new AWS service API's
